North Pocono

Senior Carleen Troup seems to excel at balancing academics with getting involved outside of the classroom.

In the top 20 of her class while taking accelerated and advanced placement classes, the daughter of Maureen Troup has also made high honors every year and holds membership in the National Honor Society.

Outside the classroom, Carleen cheers for the football and basketball squads, serves as executive president of student council and participates in Students Against Destructive Decisions and Teens Against Tobacco Use.

Also involved with the Pennsylvania Association of Student Councils, she helped plan, host and co-chair the organization's 2010 conference held at the University of Scranton.
